Plans for the big ball to be given at the Gray Army Saturday evening for the benefit of the war library are progressing rapidly. All sorts of novel and interesting features have been arranged and the affair promises to be the most brilliant event of the autumn. Governor Henry Carter Stuart will review the ball from his box and many other distinguished guests will be present.

Mrs. David Leake is chairman of the knitting bag booth. This booth will be draped in the Belgian colors, yellow, black and red, and the flags of Belgium and those assisting Mrs. Leake will wear the peasant costumes of that country. These are Mrs. Otto Theodore Hess, Mrs. L. N. Vaughan, Mrs. Charles H. Weber, Mrs. Carol H. Montague, Mrs. Beverly Randolph, Mrs. Bernard Jones and Mrs. Lucy Hayes Buttrick.

Mrs. Fred Pitts is chairman of the floor committee. The ball will be formally opened with a military figure in which the debutantes and a number of the younger set will take part, dancing with officers of the army. These girls will represent our allies, and the officers will represent America and will carry American flags.

The young girls to take part in this opening figure will be: Misses G. G. Heck, Katherine Cabell, Katherine Seales, Katherine Powers, Alice Munson, Louise Harwood, Dorcas Lutz Gerald, Marie Harwood, Martha Wall, Mary Starnes, Alice Blair, Carol Minor, Marie Marouse, Louise Wilmer, Elise Wilmer, Charlotte Jones, Martha Valentine, Priscilla Shepherd, Belle Leonard, Virginia Christian, Margaret Hendon, Rose Caperton, Elizabeth Kelley, Leticia Adams, Martha Mallory, Mary Mason, University Virginia, Robert Dorman, Emma Rogers, Emma Rogers, Edith Cabell, Edith Cabell.

Miss Marie Leiby, of Charleston, S. C., who has been spending some time with friends in the North, is now the guest of Miss Leiby Crump at her apartment in the Chesterfield for several weeks.

Mrs. James D. Crump and her daughter have recently returned from a trip to Atlantic City and New York. They were guests in New York of Dr. and Mrs. Armstrong Crump.

The marriage of Miss Esther Judelle Biggs, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Bartlett Biggs, to Richard Hampden Ludlum, son of Mrs. Lucy Pleasant Ludlum, of this city, was celebrated Saturday morning at 9:30 o'clock in the home of the bride's parents at Irvington, Ky. The ceremony was performed by Rev. F. H. Ryan, of the Methodist Episcopal Church, South. The house was decorated with white in autumn leaves, palms and ferns and the mantels were banked in cosmo and dahlias.

The bride entered the parlor with her brother, William Biggs, by whom she was given away. She wore a handsome big, broadcloth suit with a close fitting hat of French velvet and orange bouquets of Ophelia, ranunculus of the valley, Miss Mabel Hamilton, of Louisville, Ky., who was maid of honor, wore a tailored suit of tan cloth with a hat to match. Her flowers were sunflowers, George M. Lawrence, of Cleveland, Ohio, was the groom's best man and only attendant.

After a short wedding trip to Richmond, Mr. and Mrs. Ludlum will make their home at 155 A Street, N. E., Washington.

Prominent Wedding.
At Calvary Episcopal Church, in New York City, Monday, October 8, Miss Frances Coalter Gillespie, of Columbia, S. C., was quietly married to Charles David Arthur, Rev. Alfred R. Hill officiating. Mr. and Mrs. Arthur are now residing at the home of his parents in Winchester, and they will go later to Hopewell, where they will reside. The bride is the attractive younger daughter of Mrs. Sadler Gillespie, of Columbia, and the groom, who is a native of Union, is also well known in Columbia. Mrs. Arthur has a number of relatives and friends here.

Approaching Marriage.
Saturday, November 17, is the date selected by Miss Dorothy Madison Brown, of Maryland, for her marriage to Lieutenant James William Foster, U. S. R., son of Mr. and Mrs. James R. Foster, of The Plains. The ceremony will be performed in Centerville, the home of Miss Brown's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Madison Brown. The bride-elect made her debut in Baltimore two seasons ago, when she was the guest of her aunt, Mrs. C. Hammond Cromwell, Gaddy-Tremer.

Mrs. Emma Tremer, of 1312 Hanover Avenue, announces the marriage of her daughter, Miss Emma A. Tremer, to T. J. Gaddy, also of this city. The ceremony took place in the rectory of the Sacred Heart Cathedral, Monday evening at 8 o'clock, Rev. Father Kaup officiating. Shortly after the ceremony the bride and groom left for a northern tour.

Misses-Walt.
The marriage of Miss Bessie Carm Walt, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Rinaldo Walt, to Charles Albert Nolan, son of the late Charles A. Nolan, will be celebrated this evening at 8 o'clock in the parlor of the Richmond Hotel. Miss Clara Walt will be her sister's maid of honor and only attendant, and W. H. Arrington will be the groom's best man. The bride will be given in marriage by her father.

TOPICS OF INTEREST

IN RELATION TO WORK.
The "Baby-Saving Association," as the American Association for Study and Prevention of Infant Mortality is popularly known, is taking up the discussion of topics which are interesting in relation to the great war. The meeting now in session at Hotel Jefferson is essentially a "War Service Meeting," and the association with its 1,200 members from every state in the Union and from Canada is doing an estimable work through its 300 representatives now assembled in this city.

The final session is scheduled for this morning 9 to 11 o'clock, when the subject for discussion will be, "Public School Education for the Prevention of Infant Mortality." Miss Alice Ravenhill, dean of Home Economics, Utah Agricultural College, Logan; Dr. Frederick W. Howe, of the Department of Household Arts, State Normal School, Framingham, Mass.; and Miss Mary H. Mayer, Supervisor of Home Economics, Reading, will be the principal speakers. Mrs. Henrietta W. Calvin, Specialist in Home Economics, Bureau of Education, Washington, D. C., president, Dr. N. Thomas Ennett, and Dr. Roy K. Flannagan, Richmond, will open the discussion.

At the conclusion of the meeting yesterday afternoon, the delegates were the guests of the local committee at a country Club. This committee consists of:

Chairman, Dr. McGuire Newton; Dr. N. Thomas Ennett, Dr. Roy K. Flannagan, Dr. Ben H. Gray, Dr. St. George T. Grinnan, Dr. W. Harrison, Dr. C. Haskell, Dr. Paul X. Howie, Dr. H. N. Mason, Dr. Thomas W. Murrell, Dr. R. S. Preston, Dr. B. M. Roseboro, Dr. M. P. Rucker, Mr. Aubrey Straus, Dr. H. M. Uebach and Dr. Ennion G. Williams.

MEETS WITH RICHMOND ACADEMY OF MEDICINE

The association met jointly with the Richmond Academy of Medicine yesterday afternoon and took up "Eugenics." A paper was read by Dr. W. D. Stovall, rector of the University of Virginia, University of Wisconsin; Dr. F. H. Bartlett, New York City, read a paper on "The Effect of Diseases on Infant Mortality." "The Prevention of Diseases as a War Measure" was pointedly discussed by Dr. S. McC. Hamilton, Philadelphia. Dr. H. H. Hibbs, of Richmond, opened the discussion for the afternoon.

Dr. McGuire Newton was elected a member of the board of directors of the association at this session. A discussion on the work of the association in rural communities was conducted yesterday morning with Mrs. Jane B. Hanson, of this city, in charge. Dr. Flannagan also spoke on "Effect of War on Problems of Maternal and Infant Welfare in Rural Communities." Miss Ella Phillips, New York City; Miss Edith Ambrose, Dutchess County, New York; and Miss Lena Townsend, Hot Springs, Va., also spoke on various phases of this topic.

Miss Gertrude B. Knapp, Baltimore, is the executive secretary of the meeting, and is busy enrolling members and illustrating the work done by the association by means of a gallery of posters. In her office established in the hotel lobby.

CONFERENCE OF WOMEN ON WAR ACTIVITIES

Meeting of Representatives From All Parts of State to be Held Here on Friday.

Beginning Friday morning and continuing through Saturday there will be held at the Jefferson Hotel a meeting of picked women from all sections of Virginia, the object being to organize a State war council for carrying out more effectively the war emergency program of the Young Women's Christian Association. Nearly fifty women from other cities and about fifty Richmond women have been asked to serve on this war council. Many of these have not been previously connected with the Y. W. C. A., but are quick to recognize the need of work among girls in the vicinity of training camps and in industrial centers and to acknowledge that the association possesses already the machinery, the equipment and the motive to make the task effective.

It is expected that out of this meeting will grow a number of local war councils in the cities and towns of Virginia. The conference here is but part of a well-planned campaign to enlist the interest of women in the work that is acknowledged by leaders of both sexes to be a crying need for the preservation of the social body of the American people. Dr. John R. Mott, secretary of the international committee of the Y. M. C. A., writes: "We are deeply interested in your important plans. In spite of all provisions being made to create a zone of moral safety around the camps the moral and religious welfare of the soldiers will still depend in large measure upon the social conditions in the adjoining communities. The attitude and conduct of the girls and women go far to determine the controlling spirit of the Christian women in the Young Women's Christian Association as a sister organization to our own is pre-eminently fitted to meet this situation. We are most eager to have the Women's Association meet this responsibility for the protection of girls and women, just as we are seeking to meet it for the men. The work for the girls should be done in closest cooperation with that done for men. Moreover in my judgment one of the 'rearest opportunities your movement will ever have is that of helping us in his men's camps along the lines followed by the Christian women in the British and Canadian armies where such a remarkable service has been accomplished by them.'

Among the prominent women who will come to Richmond from the national headquarters of the Y. W. C. A. to help in organizing the committee and in raising the funds necessary for carrying on the work is Mrs. Dave Hendon, a daughter of the late Cornelius Vanderbilt. Mrs. Morris feels the need of this kind of work so strongly and is so enthusiastic over the plans as proposed that, although far in health, and having the responsibility of a large family, she has volunteered to travel through the South in the interest of the war council. Mrs. Morris is a charming speaker and will have a prominent part in the program of the conference. Other leaders will be Miss Mary McElroy, who will spend two months in the South organizing and co-operating with war councils; Miss Helen Davis, executive for the field work department of the national board, Miss Ernestine Friedmann, war executive for the South Atlantic Field; Miss Margaret McKinley, executive of the office department of the national board, and Mrs. Williams Adams Brown, of the Union Theological Seminary, New York.
